

Alex Crandon- Sex What you were probably never told

This talk will give an insight into how Medical specialists think about the topic of sex and you'll probably find it far different from what you expect.

When I did this talk at Medical School there were always more attendees in the lecture theatre than there were students in the year.